BANNED BOOKS WEEK
CELEBRATE THE FREEDOM TO READ!

September 30 to October 6, 2012

Every day you read something - a book, a magazine, a blog, a billboard – of your choice. Imagine if you didn’t have a choice, if you could read only what the government or society deemed “official” or “acceptable?” Fortunately, for those of us in America, we can read whatever we want. Our Founding Fathers built into the Constitution the right to read, to write and to receive information without hindrance from the government or other people:

“Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.” – United States Constitution, Bill of Rights, December 15, 1791.

We recognize this most basic of freedoms in a democratic society – the freedom to read freely – and encourage everyone not to take this freedom for granted. During this week we are reminded that while not every book is intended for every reader, each of us has the right to decide for ourselves what to read, listen to, or view. Palm Beach County Library System, and thousands of libraries across the country, will celebrate the freedom to read by encouraging you to celebrate with us.

Celebrate the freedom to read with these activities:

• Read a book, e-book, magazine, or newspaper.
• Take a child to library story time.
• Join a book club at the library.

American libraries are the cornerstones of our democracy. Libraries are for everyone, everywhere. Because libraries provide free access to a world of information, they bring opportunity to all people. Now, more than ever, celebrate the freedom to read at your library!

During the week of September 30 to October 6, visit any of our branches for a free bookmark. Check these listings for book discussions and films based on banned books.
